Obtaining

Natural Generation

Shining Amethyst Clusters can be found in naturally spawning Amethyst Geodes between y-levels -58 and 30. These clusters grow on Budding Amethyst and have a small (25%) chance of becoming a Shining Amethyst variant in the final growth stage. These variants can be distinguished from the more common Amethyst shards by the blue-ish streaks on the clusters. The percentage of Shining Amethyst to Minecraft Amethyst clusters can be adjusted in common configs.

This method of obtaining means they can become a slowly renewable resource over time provided the budding amethyst blocks are not broken. Amethysts, including Shining Amethyst, clusters gradually regrow provided the player is within 128 blocks of the budding amethyst.

Budding Amethyst cannot be broken with silk touch, meaning the player must return to a geode to create new clusters.

Mining

Shining Amethyst Shards can be obtained from clusters by breaking it with any tool. Non-pickaxe tools (including no tool) drop around 2 shards, Pickaxes will drop 4, or more with the Fortune enchantment (Fortune III drops between 4-12 on average).

Shining Amethyst shards does not have a unique growth stage like Minecraft Amethyst crystals and instead becomes a Shining Amethyst cluster in the fourth and final growth stage - therefore they have no small, medium or large bud that can be acquired using silk touch.

Shown: Shining Amethyst Shards (Left) next to a normal Amethyst Cluster.

Cantazarite

Description: Cantazarite is a naturally generating ore - the drops can be used in crafting and smelting.

Details:

Ore (Block)
Renewable:	Yes
Stackable:	Yes (64)
Tool:	Pickaxe (Stone+)
Blast Resistance:	N/A
Hardness:	N/A
Luminant:	No
Transparent:	No
Flammable:	No
Flammable (Lava):	No

Item
Rarity color:	Common
Renewable:	Yes
Stackable:	Yes (64)
Durability:	None

Obtaining

Custom SWEM ore generation height is a configurable value in common configs.

Cantazarite Ore cannot be mined by gold pickaxes to remain consistent with Minecraft - gold cannot mine above coal.

Natural Generation (Ore)

Cantazarite Ore spawns naturally throughout the world - by default it can be found around y-levels 0-30

Mining

In order to pick up the ore without breaking it, it must be mined using a pickaxe with the silk touch enchantment. Without silk touch, mining a block of Cantazarite Ore with a stone-tier or higher pickaxe will yield Cantazarite - each block will drop up to a maximum of nine 'shard' shaped Cantazarite, usually yielding a minimum of 6. These values are increased with the Fortune enchantment. When mining Cantazarite ore, a small amount of XP orbs are released, similar to mining coal, lapis lazuli, Redstone, diamond, emerald, nether quartz, and nether gold.

Shown: Cantazarite Ore next to Cantazarite (mined item).

Usage

Smelting

Cantazarite can be smelted in a furnace into Cantazarite Dye, a component in Cantazarite Potions or for use as an orange-dye substitute.

Shrimp

Description: The Shrimp is a command-only item of terrible yet awesome power.

Carefully read the information and warnings below before obtaining a Shrimp to avoid accidental damage/death.

Details:

	Rarity color:	Common
	Renewable:	No
	Stackable:	Yes (64)
	Durability:	N/A

Obtaining

Commands

The SWEM Shrimp is an item that can only be acquired via commands. It cannot be found in the world or taken from the creative inventory menu.

Usage

The SWEM shrimp summons endless lightning, even if weather is disabled. This lightning will directly target any player possessing a shrimp, but may also strike a small area around them. The Shrimp's effects are active any time the item is in the player's inventory, even if not directly held. Without high-level armor, lightning is incredibly deadly from the first strike. Players' wearing full Amethyst armor can endure lightning for much longer.

Lightning, when summoned, can be heard by ALL players if playing on co-op or server. The lightning will not cease until dropped from a player's inventory or placed in a container.

SWEM Horses are immune to lightning (try it!) but other players or animals nearby will be susceptible to

If a player dies to lightning, they will lose ALL items in their inventory unless keepInventory is enabled.

Trivia

The SWEM Shrimp was added in 2021 Beta-phase after Legend lost a bet (see: Battle of will and intellect) to Delphi. The item was a moderation joke, that when someone makes an 'oopsie' they receive a Shrimp. It's original function was supposed to be that the Shrimp would continuously strike the player with lightning when given, and would be retained on death to strike the player over and over until removed. Delphi (and moderators sooner or later) was supposed to be immune to it's effects... but coding the shrimp was never fully completed, so Legend gets the last laugh on that one.

SWEM Shrimps are very unforgiving and have caused a few accidental casualties. For that reason, as well as the natural occurrence of lightning during thunderstorms that resulted in the loss of several beta horses, SWEM horses were made immune to lightning strikes and have an interesting effect when directly struck by lightning. Hint: Turn your volume up.
